In the dear dead days before the NRA—before Repeal—before lots of things—Readin', 'Ritin,' and 'Rithmtic were all there was to school, and pupils "quit" as soon as they turned sixteen. At least scores and hundreds of them did. But those drab days are past. School means something vivid now—and colorful. All the varied interests that combine to make this difference we gather under the heading

SEPTEMBER

The portals of Auburn High, on September 6, welcomed with open arms the incoming horde of vagabonds. These, loathe to leave their varied lackadaisical summer diversions, were now ready to submit to a lengthy hibernation under the iron hands of well meaning pedagogues.

The football season opened after a fortnight of strenuous scrimmages on the part of our heroes. Consequently, the enterprising Junior class strove to sell their candies and hamburgers at the lone stand on Williams' field beginning with the advent of the Columbia City game in which we were victorious only by a margin of 18 to 14.

"Bank Day Tomorrow" was the little sign that was seen in the front of the Assembly for the first time this year. The penny borrowing got into full swing on the Tuesday following. The same day, the Athletic Association, composed of all the loyal students who buy season tickets, held its annual election of officers. Bill Kreider was elected to the office of President, with Merle Williams, as secretary, to keep the records of the meetings. Mr. Schooley, a prominent member of the faculty, took care of the money for the Atheltic Association as he has done in many of the previous years. Richard Raub was elected to the post of business manager of the grid squad.

Our honorable principal introduced a new six hour class schedule to replace the eight forty-five minute periods through which the youngsters had previously wasted their time. As the year progressed this program proved highly satisfactory.

All inter-curricular activities were renewed with fresh vigor and the second week of school was heralded by the defeat of Decatur by our eleven to the tune of 19 to 14. Auburn won the following game with Hicksville by holding them to no score, while they piled up 37 points. Dave broke his shoulder in this game.

Jack Sanders was drafted to pilot the Class of '34 on its tempestuous voyage through the remaining school year, and the three underclasses also selected capable leaders.

Mrs. Baxter and her willing followers competently organized a Girl's Athletic Association and began to punctuate the dull academic routine with hikes and potluck suppers.

On the 29th of this eventful month, the Auburn football team, gracefully deprived North Side of a triumph, playing at night on the beacon-lighted field of Fort Wayne—score, 20 to 12.

OCTOBER

Junior Stand at Williams' Field

While October's leaves were becoming gay vermilion and gold, the leaves of books in classrooms were turning to a slower tempo, and the biology addicts trouped to the woods for the required species.

The Parent-Teachers Association's annual banquet offered hilarity in the form of clever stunts by each of the classes. Following this event, the three upper classes united to welcome the verdant Freshmen in an excursion to a night club, held in the gymnasium. The Juniors furnished the ice cream.

Grade cards were handed out for the first time this year. There were 38 who rated the honor roll and of these 16 were Sophomores.

All teachers deserted the school for a short convention which gave the much disappointed students a forced vacation. This was enjoyed very much by everybody, including the teachers, who during this vacation attended the annual teachers convention at Indianapolis.

Agriculture Class Judging Live Stock

The Juniors' pocketbook demanded more sustenance—and hence the proverbial Carnival was staged with the Son of King Kong as one of the main added attractions. There was also much candy and many delicious pies. The Juniors cleared around $50 on this carnival.

A 24-hour holiday was declared to allow suitable celebration of the annual free fall fair which graced the streets of our serene city, featuring a display of the students handiwork in the Auditorium of the Court House. Handsomely decorated vehicles and bedecked pets constituted a parade, in which all boys and girls were invited to take part, as a sideshow of the above mentioned street fair.

At Portland, a nocturnal football contest was staged, October 6, ending in the handsome score of Auburn 18; opponents zero. Walter played a stirring game at left halfback, replacing Dave Williams, who had been injured and unable to participate since the Hicksville match.

'Twas a great day when Auburn could rightfully boast of trampling on the jinx, which had hovered over us for such a long time, and then vanquish the Garrett squad. This Auburn did on the 21st of this month, 14 to 6.

The heretofore unbeaten and untied eleven from Auburn, met the eleven from Central of Fort Wayne, and were made to bow to the enemy by a score of 13 to 0. This was the last game of the season. Auburn had one of her most successful seasons this year, winning 6 of the 7 games played.

NOVEMBER

November ushered in days more brisk and breezy than we had hitherto experienced. Maybe that was just a trick of Ol' Man Weather's—not Mr. Weathers—to encourage a little scholarly activity. Zeke organized his hardwood squad, which gallantly defeated the Ashley squad by the score of 28-19 in the first game of the season. Ramsey was elected to the post of basketball business manager by the Athletic Association. The drive to sell season tickets was enthusiastically carried out with the Sophomores carrying off the laurels. The rest of the classes have to give them a program.

The Civics classes patriotically formed two political parties, the Progressives, and the Twentieth Century, and proceeded to vie with each other in achieving the favor of the student body.

Mr. Miller was doing his best to convince his eager disciples that Napoleon did fight at Waterloo—much to his future chagrin, and at about the same time, our Red Devils gracefully bowed to the onslaught of the Butler quintet, the score being 19 to 9. This was Auburn's first home game of the season.

Mr. Fribley talked turkey, and let everybody out of their last class on Wednesday for a Thanksgiving program. He also graciously let all the pupils out of school Thursday and Friday. On Friday, the Auburn squad had no reason to be thankful. LaGrange won a hard fought game 15 to 14.

The next game on the Red Devils schedule was one which everybody had been waiting for. Auburn went to Angola to battle with their quintet for possession of the coveted keg. The Auburn squad was mercilessly downed by them, 23 to 15. We said a fond farewell to the keg until a later date. This was the first time Angola has had possession of the keg for the last 4 years.

The next game on the schedule was supposed to be with Wakarusa, but due to their getting put out of the state association, South Side kindly consented to fill in, although they were still not through with football. This was a closely contested game which South Side won by one point. This was the first time that South Side has been able to win over an Auburn squad for the last ten years.

Most of the students returned the following Monday after Thanksgiving only because they had had three days to recuperate. The grind has started again.

DECEMBER

Listening to Radio Discussion

The month of mistletoe and holly was joyously welcomed as a breathing space between Thanksgiving and Christmas. On December 1, Auburn defeated the Goshen team by the margin of 14 to 12.

Two evangelists, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, from the Christian church entertained the whole school in an assembly program with music and a clever chalk drawing. Mrs. Thomas played an accordion and Mr. Thomas did the chalk drawing.

"Zeke" proudly awarded members of his football squad with the dazzling silver footballs which, needless to say, were not retained for too long a time by their worthy receivers. We wonder where they went?

"Drums of Death," with all its harrowing episodes with blood curdling screams was successfully presented by a Junior and Senior cast on the 14th and the 15th. A good crowd was in attendance.

The Portland quintet humbly bowed to our boys' onslaughts to the tune of 21 to 15, but the Kendallville team remained unsubdued. Auburn at this time lost another thriller to the South Side Archers. This was, by the way, a conference game.

"Gunga Din" organized his followers into a History Club, whose members chose Albert Sockrider, president. To aid him they also chose Joe Lumm, vice president, and Charlotte Lochner secretary and treasurer. The first meeting of the club was celebrated by a gift exchange, consisting chiefly of furry monkeys and diminutive dollies all of which were turned over to charity after the meeting. We hope some child will enjoy them as much as the History Club did.

Everyone rushed to the little gym at 3 o'clock, to watch a Christmas program given by the student body. After this was over they all rushed home to enjoy a much longed for vacation which was to last until the second day of 1934. In this program, Ruth Lige was a winsome maid of the 80's to say nothing of Johnny Morris who depicted an old Roman statesman, and Tommy Mason and Basil McDougall as the two Black Crows.

The sophisticates, coming home from college, gleefully visited Almy and aided in bidding farewell to the end of our 1933 school year. They said it seemed like old times to get back into the portals of the old school house.

Our net heroes chalked up another victory on the home floor. They defeated Bluffton by a two point margin.

JANUARY

So this is what the New Year has brought us! Many expressive groans greeted the tolling of the bell at 8:30 a. m. on the second day of January. But good times must always have an ending so back to biology, typing, and French and other studies much to the sorrow of most of the student body.

The Faculty made Kenney Walter the Editor-in-Chief of the Annual, with Leroy Close as the business manager.

The basketball fans witnessed a thrilling game in which the heroes took Central 26 to 25. More cheers! For Garrett also went under the yoke to the tune of 19 to 8. Where was Garrett? The Five Furies next attempted to take Decatur and Wabash but they failed to do so.

Preparation for work on the Follies was begun in earnest with the election of the other people on the Annual Staff. The other students who were placed on the major staff were Fay Thomas, Gordon Mefford, and Albert Sockrider.

The semester grade cards were passed out and fifty-one scholars qualified for the honor roll. The Sophomores again led the classes with 19, and with the Seniors running a close second with 18. The Senior Group for the four years of high school was announced. Those who made this were Jean Buss, Alice Whitten, Leola Ford, and Ermel Weaver.

The Home Economics girls sadly said adieu to Miss Kreft, their teacher, who was transferred to Technical of Indianapolis. In her place the girls cordially welcomed Miss Swaim, who has done her best to make her classes the best in the school. We will say that she has certainly done a good job of it too.

Discussion enthusiasts were treated to a debate at Purdue University, and came home competently prepared to rave about radios and how our government should run them.

Mr. Anderson, author of "New Moon," wittily and educationally engaged our attentions with his descriptions of how to write a book.

The Auburn team on playing in the Blind Tourney, seemed to be a little blind, at least during the first game. We lost the first game in the afternoon, but we also won a 9 point victory over one of our most bitter rivals, Kendallville.

Miss Dawson made us read all about Poe and Irving while other pedagogues ply us with harsh admonitions and mandates.

FEBRUARY

Annual Staff at Work

The month of red-paper hearts again rolled 'round and winter's hitherto docile behavior was rudely interrupted by frigid and northerly blasts coupled with frequent snow flurries. The mercury dropped below zero almost habitually.

Mr. Ground Hog woke up and came out of his hole to see how this cold world would treat him. He saw some misty object on the ground, which must have terribly frightened him, for he scrambled back into his hole until some further date. The seniors at this time began to crawl out of their respective holes, one by one, to visit Mr. Jones and his camera. How many times did that camera of his click this year?

Angola jauntily proved that she should keep the keg—but only by three points. The next game was with the Hartford City Airdales. The results of this game were too humiliating to mention further except to say that Auburn lost.

History Clubbers were dutifully bored by recitations and demonstrated incidents (such as a minuet) on and from the lives of Washington and Lincoln.

Taking Pictures

The Vergilians wept bitter tears over Dido's fate, but that did not faze Pop Weathers when it came to those unexpected exams.

On the home hardwood, the North Side Redskins came and took the game by a one point margin.

Noon league certainly aroused lots of fervor—and it was truly exciting to watch the Freshies defeat the upper classmen. There is really some good material scattered among these younger classes.

LaGrange was the next out of town game which was taken by the foe by the score of 22 to 27.

There have been whispers circulating through the corridors that Don Coar has dropped from the ranks of the bachelors. If this is true, the school in general wishes him lots of luck.

Auburn did win from Beaver Dam. What a shot that was of Myers in the closing minutes of this game! Auburn was defeated by Columbia City in the last scheduled game of the season by the score of 31 to 17.

The rest of the February basketball history is too gloomy to be here exposed. Columbia City won the sectional at Garrett thereby getting the honor of participating in the regional tourney.

Another of the more interesting events of this month was the examinations that all students had to take for scarlet fever. This was done by the health officer, Dr. D. M. Hines. This, however, put an end to what might have been an epidemic.

In Chemistry Class

MARCH

Oh, the rollicking, raucus month of March! High winds—low winds! They blew to Auburn, who was at this time a participator in the Sectional Basketball Tourney, one win and one loss. Though the season was officially over, the tornado of the tournaments went over the state, blowing regional honors, in the Auburn regional, to Beaver Dam, a 1933 participator in the state tournament. They were one of the few state tournament teams who played in 1933 to again participate in the state tourney. The State Championship trophy went to Logansport. A gay group from Auburn was borne on the gale to Indianapolis where they watched the State Tournament—the premier sports event of the Hoosier High Schools. This group included the ten members of the basketball team who had so courageously fought for Auburn. Except for the Noon League Tournament in Auburn, basketball was over for another year.

The Girls' Chorus and Glee Club united in a concert at the Methodist Church, where they sang a group of charming songs. Jean Buss played an organ solo.

On the afternoon of Friday, the 23rd, Jean Buss and Charlotte Lochner, together with several other aspirants for discussion honors, represented the school in a discussion contest in the little gym. Jean took first place, which entitled her to compete in the Regional Contest the last of April.

Did one hear that patter of running feet in the upper halls? That was Zeke getting his material together for the coming track season. Things were not as bright for this sport as they were last year, but Zeke always manages to make something out of what he has.

Members of the Follies Staff feverishly began submitting delayed copy to the chieftain. The annual tearing of hair—frantic labor—and nightmares of the officials—was again in full sway.

The Senior girls held two feline discussion meetings to decide on light or dark, long or short frocks in which to Commence!

Big Dave was elected to the humble job of business manager of the track squad. The last of April, Myers represented Auburn at the State indoor track meet in the Butler field house. He was entered in the 60 yard dash and the shotput. He took first place in the shotput. This is the first year that Auburn has not had more men who were skilled enough to be entered in the state meet. This is also the second time that the school has sent Jess to Indianapolis within two weeks. We point with pride at his prowess, but view with alarm his expensiveness!

APRIL

Noon League Baseball

The month of April was introduced by a program given the Sophs to the other three classes. They had won the Season Ticket Drive way back in October. And this was their reward. After this, on the next Friday, the Contest Chorus went to Garrett to help entertain the audience of the County Spring Concert. The home representatives appropriately sang "Sympathy."

Preparations were started for the Operetta, "The Ghost of Lollypop Bay." This work was supervised by Miss McKinney, the music instructor.

The middle of the showery month brought Mr. Wilson's talk to the assembly. This was one of the few of the assembly programs given the students, at the expense of the school. His subject was "Three Wheeling Through Africa" —an account of his bicycle trip across Africa from the Congo to Abyssinia. Students quailed at blood-curdling tales of real live cannibals. Although we had several other assembly programs during the year, this was the only one which was scheduled at the first of the year. It was undoubtedly one of the best.

Auburn placed second in a triangular track meet with North Side and Huntington. Jess Myers, who put the shot for a new field record, was easily the best man on the field. He made 22 out of Auburn's 29 points. His new record in the shot is 49 feet and 7 inches.

Don Coar at this time took four of his best pupils down to the mathematics contest in Fort Wayne. These four were Jack Smith and Naomi Garman, for algebra; Lee Anderson and Robert Nelson, for Geometry.

The Auburn track team next went to Goshen for a dual meet.

The 26th and 27th presented the operetta. And did the ghosts pop? At any rate, the coeds in the play certainly helped in making the musicale a huge success.

Mr. Fribley called for entries for the music contest, sponsored by Indiana University and the private music teachers, which was held the latter part of the month.

Besides the track meets mentioned above, the thinly clads also went to Central, Kokomo and Kendallville. Several of the best tracksters were sent to the Kokomo Relays. This meet is independent of the regular scheduled meet with Kokomo.

MAY

May Day was welcomed with signs of joy and of regret. Nine more days of school for the Seniors, and only 14 more days more for the Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen. The Seniors wander around the corridors trying to decide whether to look glum or happy.

The Conference, Sectional and State Track meets were held, and our thinly clads represented Auburn in each of these three meets.

Miss McKinney, the instructor of music in the Auburn public schools, and Mr. Wilcox, band leader, cooperated in presenting the annual spring Festival of Music at the Alumni Gymnasium. The program consisted of songs by the girls' chorus under the direction of Miss McKinney and selections by the band under the direction of Mr. Wilcox.

May brought more and more serious cases of the terrible disease dreaded most by school teachers—Spring Fever! Many prominent students were smitten and, even several teachers suffered mild cases.

Happy Day! The annuals were distributed! "Sign my annual, please?" was the most popular and most used phrase these days. Contests were on to see which students could get the most signatures.

The lower classmen sent envious glances towards the Seniors who proudly paraded out the doors a full week before the remaining classes. "I'll be glad when I'm a Senior!" The envy of the other classmen changed to wonder when the lucky Seniors revisited school in swarms!

Sunday, May 13, Reverend Craven delivered the Baccalaureate sermon at the Methodist Church. The Girls' Chorus furnished the music. Everyone admired everybody else's clothes—especially the girls. Several of the girls wept silently into wisps of handkerchiefs.

The Juniors entertained the Seniors at the Annual Junior-Senior banquet at Potawatomi on May 14. This is held on Lake James. There was the usual rush over cars, many good looking clothes and food. After the dinner, there was dancing and bridge.

On May 16, President Earl Enyeart Harper of Evansville College delivered the Commencement address. Diplomas at last! All the girls looked lovely and all the boys handsome. And relief on the faces of parents.

At last, on May 18, the annual high school picnic. All the high school each year goes to Circle Park to celebrate the last day of school. Thus is ended another chapter in the history of the school.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Early arrivals at Banquet

One of the three occasions anticipated by every high school student for four years is the Junior Senior Banquet. May 14th was the day set for this year's banquet. Potawatomi Inn, at Lake James, again was the chosen location. The Juniors had charge of the entertainment.

Cars were provided for everyone who wished to go.

Though it is a long drive, the attraction of the place more than compensates for the difficulty of reaching it. The picturesque Inn on the shore of the beautiful lake makes an appropriate background for the multi-colored frocks of the Junior and Senior girls.

The after-dinner speeches by Mr. McKenney, Superintendent of Schools, Lee Anderson, Junior class president, and Jack Sanders, Senior class president, were followed by dancing and bridge.

PICNIC

The Auburn High School Picnic is connected with a certain day, a red-letter day in the diary of every high school student—the last day of school. This year the day fell on May 18. The picnic was held at the usual place, Circle Park on Hamilton Lake. Everyone was asked to take at least enough food for himself, in case no other food was available. There was also the admonition: "Don't everybody bring pickles and bananas!"

McKenney

Picnic

Mr. Fribley made a speech in the assembly, warning all to drive carefully and not to go swimming too soon after eating, and for all to stay on the one side of the lake.

It did not take long to become hungry; the lake air and the odor of delicious food! Soon teachers and mothers were kept busy keeping hungry students away from the food. At last the welcome mess call was sounded.

And then the excess had to be roller-skated off in the afternoon.

"Hold that please!" says Mr. Fribley, as he shoots the G. A. A.

"Put in a clean sheet of paper, please, we're going to have a speed test today." Therefore; flying fingers.

THE NORTH EAST ENTRANCE

There are many activities going on in school all the time, which do much to keep the pupils interested in their work. These take cognizance of the myriad personalities seeking expression. There is music for the student with that talent or inclination. The law-maker, the orator, the artist, the business man can find inspiration for his talent.

Yet all these are secondary to the school life. Therefore the second section of this book is

ACTIVITIES

ART DEPARTMENT

Seventeen artistic students spent an hour every morning in the Art Room, Miss Sellers, who is a graduate from the John Herron Art Institute with a B. S. degree, was their talented teacher.

The Art students helped the Junior-Senior Play and the Operetta by making posters for the advertising. They also helped with some of the costumes and the scenery.

Some of their products were tooled leather bags, wall hangings, and block prints. They also made many studies of trees, animals, and birds. Outdoor sketching was another part of the class work.

Every year the Art Class enters some of its best work in the Free Fall Fair. This year ribbons were won by Robert Pulver, Clarence Dewitt, and Paul Wyatt. The class collection won fourth prize at the Indiana State Fair.

The commercial group is composed of the best and most promising students in the three lines of commercial work—shorthand, bookkeeping and typing. This year, twenty-one students comprised the group.

In the shorthand group were: Jean Buss, Kenneth Walter, Ermel Weaver, Fay Thomas, Pauline Keller, Marian Thomas, Mary Sprott, Robert Maxwell and Dorothy Duke.

Jessie Saltsman, Carl Nagle, Florence Tallen, Ermel Weaver and Helen Schrader represented the bookkeeping group.

The typing group was composed of Richard Brown, George Pulver, Jean Buss, Alice McClellan, Leola Ford, Marjorie Miner and Georgia Vachon.

COMMERCIAL GROUP

PHYSICS CLASS

Students who selected Physics as their science this year felt that they were among the most fortunate. Though this science has been considered one of the most difficult high school subjects, Mr. Schooley has the ability to make it an oasis in the desert. His keen wit cracks out far ahead of the class much of the time—but when one can catch up it is the bright spot of the day.

The increasing popularity of this course is proved by the gain in enrollment. This year's class of 29 members is the largest in its history.

Mr. Schooley's illustrations brought the light of physics even to the dimmest mind.

Those seniors interested in literature this year were under the instruction of Miss Dawson.

The first semester the class discussed the more important English writers and their works. Shakespeare's "Macbeth" seemed to prove itself the most interesting to the class.

The second semester the class studied modern writers.

In order to gain credit in this subject the A, B, and C students were required to have fifty points for out of school reading, and the other students were required to read a book a semester.

LETTER AWARDS

In this group are boys who put forth much effort to bring glory to the school. Football, Track, and Basketball are represented in the group.

The award for track is a white winged A. The following track men who are still in school were awarded these A's for 1933: Dave Williams, Richard Raub, Frank Ramsey, Emmet Anderson, Harry Brandon, Denzil Myers, Gerald Roth, Walter Kruse, Kenneth Graham, Preston Stackhouse, William Kreider, and Burgess Barnhart. In addition to this list are several who have been graduated. The Captain of the squad was Don Lash.

The football award is a six inch crimson chenille A. Those presented with these football letters were: Kenneth Walter, Robert Merchanthouse, John Morris, Don Merchanthouse, Frank Ramsey, Robert Berg, Robert Lochner, Denzil Myers, Dave Rodecap, Wilbur Essley, Jack Sanders, Walter Kruse, Gerald Roth, William Kreider, Burgess Barnhart, Robert Renner, Richard Brown, Arthur Hines, Lawrence Chorpenning, Preston Stackhouse, George Pulver, and Richard Raub. Raub was awarded his letter for acting as business manager. This year there were two captains for football. They were: Bill Kreider, back field captain and Robert Lochner, captain of the line.

Silver footballs, the most prized trophies of the football players, were presented to the following: Kenneth Walter, Burgess Barnhart, Robert Berg, Robert Lochner, Gerald Roth, W. Essley, Dave Rodecap, John Morris, and Walter Kruse.

The men who received footballs in previous years and who are still in school are: Denzil Myers, Don Merchanthouse, R. Merchanthouse, F. Ramsey, W. Kreider, and D. Williams.

The basketball players who were not previously presented with sweaters received this valuable prize. It is crimson, with a silver grey letter and silver grey trimmings. These were presented to Jack Sanders, Burgess Barnhart, Gerald Roth, Richard Raub, Robert Lochner, and Preston Stackhouse.

Denzil Myers, Dave Williams, William Kreider, Robert Merchanthouse, Don Merchanthouse, and Willard Vachon received sweaters in previous years.

Fourth row: Mefford, Sockrider, Renner, L. Anderson, Raub, Mendenhall, Stump, Berg, M. Rieke

BOYS' HI-Y

The Boys Hi-Y is sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association and supervised by Harry Kreider. This organization is one of the most important boy's club in the school. The local organization received its charter in 1922, and adopted the creed: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

The club holds meetings every Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. Every other Tuesday night they have a pot-luck supper with some kind of an entertainment. The club, at regular intervals, initiates new members into the organization. There are no Freshmen eligible for the club, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors only being allowed to take part in it. At present it has 53 members in it.

Interesting talks were given by different people during the year. Some of the more interesting discussions were given by Charles Lash on Hypnotism and Mr. Schooley on Sleight-of-Hand.

Mr. A. L. Johnson of the Auburn Automobile Company gave an intensely interesting talk on his trip of last summer into the far North. Three hundred miles above the Arctic Circle by airplane gave him ample material with which to hold his audience spell-bound. He showed several reels of motion pictures which he had taken enroute.

In the spring, the Ways and Means committee sponsored a play to make money to meet some of the organization's expenses. The actors in this play consisted solely of boys. Considerable time was spent by the committee to put this play on and without the cooperation of all, the play would have been impossible.

The officers during the first semester were: Charles Welch, president; Joe Lumm, vice president; Bob Berg, treasurer; Harold Stump, secretary; and Lee Anderson, program chairman. Those elected for the second semester were: Emmett Anderson, president; Joe Lumm, vice president; John Morris, treasurer; Howard McKenney, secretary; and L. J. Renz, program chairman. These last mentioned officers will hold office until the election is held for next year.

CHORUS

Each spring a concert is given at Garrett by twenty-five to thirty girls from each school in the county. This concert has taken the place of the annual county contest of previous years.

On the evening of April 6 this contest was held in the Garrett gymnasium. The harmony expressed by the several groups, both instrumental and vocal, showed careful training of the participants.

The Auburn High School girls' chorus singing "Sympathy" gave a splendid example of the art of blending voices. The Auburn Octette also gave the selections "Harmony" and "Lullaby."

The final numbers of the program given by the massed chorus, composed of the chorus groups from the seven schools of the county were the outstanidng renditions. They sang "The Green Cathedral" by Johnston, "Glorious Forever" by Rachmaninoff, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," and "Allah's Holiday" by Rudolf Friml. The groups practiced together but once, on Thursday afternoon. The manner in which these numbers were rendered speaks well for the musical training of the pupils of the DeKalb County Schools.

Each group was directed in its special numbers by the instructor for that group. The massed chorus was conducted by Gilbert Coble, supervisor of music in the Garrett Schools, and accompanied by Miss Clarice McKinney, supervisor of music in the Auburn Schools.

The double quartette from Auburn, composed of Ruth Lige, Jean Buss, Marian Thomas, Genevieve Elson, Geraldine Mason, Pauline Keller, Alice McClellan, and Luella Tallen, chose "Lullaby Moon" as their selection.

This production merited a greater support than it received from the public. In this machine age the youth must be taught to use leisure hours in pursuits which will teach them the value of cooperation and which will bring pleasure to others as well as themselves if they are to be good useful citizens. There is no one department in our school which accomplishes this to a greater degree than music.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club under the direction of Miss McKinney, supervisor of music in the Auburn Schools, is an organization of singers and is composed of the school's best voices. Admittance and membership to this club depends upon the ability of the entrant to pass certain rigorous tests in voice. The Club is divided into three divisions: sopranos, second sopranos, and altos. New songs to be purchased are selected by the club.

The rehearsals were held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from four to five o'clock.

Some of the compositions most favored by the girls are as follows: "Sympathy" from the light opera, "The Firefly" by Rudlof Friml, "Tiny Seed," "Allah's Holiday" by Rudolf Friml, "The Green Cathedral" by Johnston, "When a Maid Comes Knocking" from the light opera, "Glorious Forever" by Rachmaninoff, and "The Walrus and the Carpenter," a short humorous cantata. The words to this cantata were written by Lewis E. Carroll, the famous author of "Alice In Wonderland."

Alice Whitten was the accompanist this year.

Glee Club sang at the Commencement exercises and at the spring music festival in the Alumni Gymnasium.

This year, the Glee Club is composed of thirty-five girls. Fourteen of the girls are Seniors; there are eight Juniors; nine are Sophomores; and four are Freshmen. From the group Miss McKinney picked the concert chorus consisting of thirty voices, and the double quartet. These girls sang at the several churches, at a Sunday School Convention, and at the Federation of Literary Clubs.

The Double Quartet consisted of Jean Buss, Ruth Lige, Marian Thomas, Geraldine Mason, Genevieve Elson, Pauline Keller, Luella Tallen, and Alice McClellan.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Future Farmers of America organization, Chapter 18, is on its fourth year of success, headed and advised by C. G. Hornaday. Officers of the organization are: President, Allyn Dawson; vice president, Joe Dewitt; secretary, William Miller; and Treasurer, Donald Miller. The meetings are held on the first and third Wednesday nights of each month.

Many activities were sponsored by the chapter this year. Allyn Dawson, accompanied by Paul Souder, was sent to Lafayette to the State Convention, and live stock was judged.

In this F. F. A., there are four degrees which can be obtained: First, the "Green Hand," which is merely being initiated and attending regularly the meetings; second, the "Future Farmer" degree, which requires that the member conduct a meeting for ten minutes, learn the creed of the chapter, and earn and save twenty-five dollars. The third degree is "Hoosier Farmer." This requires completion of two years of vocational training, earning and saving two hundred dollars, being able to lead a group discussion for forty minutes, and ranking in the upper fourth of the class in all school subjects. The fourth degree is "American Farmer," the qualifications being similar to those of the "Future Farmers," except that five hundred dollars must have been earned and saved, and definite plans made for farming.

Upon graduation from school, members may be active for three years and then associate members for an indefinite period.

The subjects studied by the Freshmen and Sophomores this year were Animal Husbandry and Soils; and those studied by the Seniors were Farm Management and Mechanics.

Many prizes were won at the DeKalb County Fair, State Fair, and County Judging contests by members of the organization.

The F. F. A. is one of the most popular organizations in High School.

MANUAL TRAINING

Manual training is a fascinating subject. An unusually large number of freshmen are enrolled this year. Mr. Cosper, the instructor, makes this vocational subject very practical. The time spent under his supervision is very profitable. One is taught to use his hands as well as his head, thus acquiring knowledge that will be to his advantage all through life.

Remarkable ability is shown in the wood shop by the students in making useful articles by machine and by hand. Good care of tools is an essential point as well as accuracy in making the articles.

The course taught to the High School groups is much in advance of the seventh and eighth grade work. This course uses the large electrical machinery not included in seventh and eighth grade work.

The plans are first drawn from blue prints and then worked out into the wood structure. A certain amount of work is required. After its completion other articles of special interest can be made. This extra work is charged to the person making it.

Mr. Cosper takes a great interest in his boys, and does all he can to make the subject interesting. The seventh and eighth grades are also under his supervision. There are twenty-nine freshmen and sophomores in the High School course.

The hours in this subject were changed to meet the new six hour day introduced into the school. There are now two periods instead of one. This is also partly due to the exceptioanlly big enrollment this year.

The wood shop is found on the Harrison School Grounds. Because of the great ability of Mr. Cosper as a carpenter, it is the repair shop for the whole school and half the town!

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The girls vocational division is one of the most popular feminine studies of the school. Fifty-six girls are enrolled this year. It is an active and essential department. The work in this branch is varied. The different subjects include: General Home Economics, Food Study, Art in Relation to the Home, Clothing and Home Nursing. "General Home Economics," a study for freshmen, is a preview of the entire Home Economics work. It deals with cooking, sewing, etiquette, and family relationships. "Food Study" takes up the buying, preparation, and serving of foods. Several practice meals are served during the semester. "Art in Relation to the Home" teaches to make home and clothing more beautiful and suitable. The study of "Clothing" concerns the selection of clothes, their construction, and repair. "Home Nursing" covers First Aid, care of the sick, child development and the study of hygenic conditions. The aim of the entire department is to instruct the girls to live and dress properly. Miss Kreft was the instructor the first semester and Miss Swaim, the second.

Forty girls joined the Home Economics Club, a social club, held monthly. The officers, this year, were Dorothy Duke, president; Erma Jean Baltz, vice president; Bernice Woolever, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Horn, news reporter. This organization made childrens' clothes for charity under the direction of the Red Cross. Two one-act plays were presented: "Too Many Beaus" and "Never Too Many." The first was given at a tea for the Parent-Teacher's Association. The club for social and practical reasons gave a dinner party. They bought, prepared, and served the food.

The purpose of the club is to promote friendship, to teach the members to assume responsibility by acting on committees and to increase interest in the Home Economics work. The calibre of instruction in our High School is known to be of the finest, inasmuch as Technical High School of Indianapolis, one of the largest and finest in the state, stole our instructor in the middle of the year!

HISTORY CLUB

The History Club, under the supervision of Mr. Weathers, is one of the most active organizations of the school. Those eligible are Juniors and Seniors taking United States History or Economics, and having an average grade of C or above.

Those interested in the Club met at the beginning of the year and elected the following officers: Albert Sockrider, president; Joe Lumm, vice president; Charlotte Lochner, secretary-treasurer; Geraldine Mason, assistant secretary-treasurer; Marjorie Miner, pianist; Alice McClellan, assistant pianist; Ruth Lige, song leader; and Kenneth Walter, publicity manager. This year's club has an enrollment of sixty-two students.

A committee picked from the whole group met with Mary Krise, who acted as chairman and appointed the following to act as chairmen at the future meetings: Emmett Anderson, Leroy Close, Rachel Shull, Marjorie Miner, Mary Timberlin, and Richard Raub.

One of the goals toward which the club has worked, was to place a bookcase in Mr. Weather's room. This was to repay Mr. Weathers for his hard work and extra hours. The case was installed on April 2.

The officers of the club also had a meeting in which they made it easier for the program committee by picking out a series of countries on which the programs were to be based. The club met every other Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. The programs of the year consisted of the discussion of the Foreign countries, music, and refreshments, which everyone seemed to enjoy.

The History Club was a place to go to have fun but it also had a serious side of it. The programs previously mentioned were based on historical facts, which is really what a History Club is organized for.

OPERETTA

"Ask the Professor," a two-act operetta dealing with college life was presented May 4 and 5. Miss McKinney and Miss Duguid were the directors.

John Ainsworthy, a wealthy young college Senior, comes to see his sister, June. He graduates and meets Emily Lee and Maryida O'Neal, the sister of Red O'Neil, John's roommate at college. Red has gone through college with the help of his mother, Mrs. O'Neal, who is a laundress, and Maryida. Neither Maryida nor her mother want it known that Red is related to them, fearing it will hurt Red's standing at college. John and June find this out and think Maryida should have her chance. John also wishes to prove that Prof. Breakeasy's theory of heredity is all "bunk." June is in love with Red. Maryida refuses to accept charity. When John and June invent a kind aunt who sends worthy girls to school, Maryida eagerly accepts. With this aid and the help of Prof. Breakeasy, Maryida has a year at college.

Maryida surprises everyone with her splendid work. She is crowned queen and everyone is waiting for the Commencement Ball when word comes that John's aunt cannot come. Maryida cannot go to the ball without a chaperon. She discovers that John's and June's aunt is a fictitious creature and that John and June really paid her way. She is furious. Miss Stone withdraws John's and June's invitation to the ball. Maryida leaves for home.

Red and Mrs. O'Neal are summoned by Tommy. Tommy goes after Maryida and brings her back. Professor Breakeasy is quite impressed with Mrs. O'Neal.

Red, who has found a fine job and won a prize for an invention pays Maryida's debts in full. Miss Stone forgives John and June and all ends happily.

Seated: Pauline Keller, Miss Bowles; Krise, Amelia; F. Thomas, Celeste; L. Walters, Thompson alias Dr. Cameron; Whitten, Paula Bailey; M. Sprott, Mrs. Gillette; G. Mefford, Newton Cooper

JUNIOR-SENIOR PLAY

"The Drums of Death," a mystery play written by Howard Reed, was presented December 5th and 6th in the high school auditorium. It was directed by Miss Duguid.

The story goes as follows: Mrs. Gillette, Amelia, her daughter, and Eugenia Bowles, are summoned by telegram to the deathbed of Mr. Bailey, Mrs. Gillette's brother. They arrive to find Sheldon Harley in charge. He advises them to return to town at once. Mrs. Gillette refuses. Paula Bailey, a granddaughter, arrives at midnight, as was prophesied by Celeste, an octoon servant. A Dr. Cameron arrives soon afterwards.

Thompson, a deadly enemy of Mr. Bailey's, is in the swamp which, with the sea, separates the Bailey place from the mainland. He is after a stone which is in Mr. Bailey's possession and for which a certain European government will pay a large sum of money. Mr. Bailey disappeared three days before and Jules, a trusted Haitian negro servant, wore Mr. Bailey's regalia to keep the large band of negro servants from suspecting that their leader was gone.

Mrs. Oakley, the housekeeper, walks in her sleep and leads Celeste, Jules, and Paula, whom Celeste has hypnotized, to the body of Mr. Bailey in the lagoon in the swamp. Celeste commands Paula, because she is a relative and will not be hurt, to remove the stone from Bailey's body and carry it to the house.

Newton Cooper, the country sheriff, works on the case with little or no success.

Sheldon Harley turns out to be Gregory Sheldon, a secret service agent and the fiance of Paula. He exposes Dr. Cameron, alias Thompson, who has been receiving signals from his men in the swamp by the beating of drums. All ends well, for Thompson is killed when he opens the cabinet containing the stone.

The following people took the parts of the characters in this play: Keller, Krise, Mefford, Sockrider, Whitten, Lochner, Sprott, Walters, Thomas, Rufner, Phillips, and Gumpp.

Seated: McClintock, Trovinger, Mavis, I. McClellan, Shook, Grosh, Geisinger, Schrader, H. Nagle, R. Craven, Rainier

BAND

Under the excellent direction of Mr. Wilcox, the high school band has progressed rapidly this year. All high school students who play instruments are eligible. At the present time, there are 23 members in this group.

Mr. Wilcox, who also has charge of the Junior High Band, comes to the High School every Monday and Friday morning, and holds practice periods. This period extends from eight o'clock until eight forty-five. Any member having an assembly during the morning can receive instructions at this time.

The band takes a prominent part in school activities. One of their main features is playing for the basketball games. This livens the games, even during their slowest moments. The band also gave several clever assembly programs, which were enjoyed by all the students. One of their most clever programs was the one in which they portrayed a little German Band. They could even hit the sour notes.

Four of the members, including Helen Schrader, Geraldine Trovinger, Jesse Saltsman and Gordon Maxwell, will be lost by graduation this spring. These places will be filled by incoming freshmen, who, as we have heretofore stated, are also taught by Mr. Wilcox.

The favorite numbers of the band are as follows: "Saint Louis Blues," "Sliding Some," "Tom Thumb's Drum," a march; and an overture, "LaPaloma."

The band also took part in the annual spring concert, along with Miss McKinney's singers, in the Big Gym. The music at this concert was vesy much enjoyed. The Band looks forward to this concert every year.

The personnel of the band is: first trumpets — Meredith VanZile, Charles Rainier, and Robert Craven; second trumpets — Helen Schrader, Georgena Geisinger, Walter Stebing, and Hobart Nagle; first clarinets—Dorothy McClintock and Dorothy Mavis; second clarinets —Geraldine Trovinger and Irene McClellan; trombones—Donald Goings, Howard Foust, Virgil McNabb, and Jesse Saltsman; baritone—Harold Palmer; saxophones—Schuble Boggs, Robert Kreamelmeyer, and Gordon Maxwell; basses—Walter Hughes; snare drums—Maxine Scott and Max Shook; and the bass drummer was Darrell Grosh.

ORCHESTRA

Under the direction and supervision of Miss Clarice McKinney, the instructor of music in the Auburn Public Schools, the high school orchestra has had a very successful year. Twelve students compose the orchestra. Six of the number are members of the Senior class; hence they will not return next year, and consequently must be replaced. There are three freshmen and two sophomores, but only one Junior member in the orchestra. There are four people who play violins; two of the members play trumpets; two saxophones; three play trombones, one clarinet player; and one pianist. Any high school student who can play an instrument that is suitable for an orchestra and can play it with some degree of accuracy and skill is eligible for membership.

The periods for practice are held during the sixth period every Monday and Friday in Room 6 on the second floor of the high school building.

The orchestra furnished appropriate and mysterious music for the Junior-Senior play, "The Drums of Death," playing before and after the play, and between the acts. They played for the light operetta, "The Ghost of Lollypop Bay," playing both light and mysterious music in accordance with the theme of the operetta. They also furnished the music for the Commencement exercises.

Two of the selections which they diligently worked on and which were their favorites are: "At the Opera" and "Teammates."

The students who are members of the orchestra are as follows: Violins—Helen Bassen, Mae Elene Craven, Marjorie Miner and Carl Nagle; trumpets—Robert Craven and Helen Schrader; clarinet—Geraldine Trovinger; saxophones—Schuble Boggs and Ray Thomas; trombones—Jesse Saltsman, Howard Foust, and Donald Goings; and piano—Jean Buss.

First row: Lige, M. Thomas, Keller, C. Lochner, Garman, Tallen

Third row: Buss, Smith, L. Anderson, Dawson, Souder, Nelson

INTERSCHOLASTIC GROUP

Interscholastic group membership is an honor most difficult to attain in High School. This group consists of all people who participate in contests between schools. Auburn sends her best pupils in certain departments to these contests.

This year Auburn entered Jean Buss, Josephine Smith, Leola Ford, Burgess Barnhart, and Charlotte Lochner in a county discussion contest with Ashley. Jean Buss of Auburn took first and Charlotte Lochner, also of Auburn, took second. This gave Jean the honor of competing in the district against other county winners. This latter contest was held in Auburn on April 12.

The double quartette consists of Jean Buss and Ruth Lige, sopranos; Marian Thomas, Genevieve Elson, Geraldine Mason, and Pauline Keller as seconds; and Barbara Gordon, Luella Tallen, and Alice McClellan, altos. Jean Buss also entered the state contest sponsored by Indiana University for private teachers. Entered with her were Margaret Reed and Ruth Lige. Last year Jean, without the aid of her own accompanist, won first place in this contest in the state finals. Her selection was "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Those pupils who were entered in the regional mathematics contest were Lee Anderson and Robert Nelson in the Geometry contest, and Naomi Garman and Jack Smith in the algebra contest.

Allyn Dawson and Paul Souder were both sent down to the State Fair for the good work they did in Agriculture.

These people uphold the school's honor in other things besides sports. This is the only other group, besides athletics, which goes away from home to compete with other schools for honors. Auburn has always been well represented and she has a good record, competing with schools of many times her size.

Others not pictured in this group are the art contestants. Each year, Auburn sends some of her art work to Indianapolis to the State Fair.

First row: Ford, Buss, Weaver, Dawson, Peel, Garman, Fribley
Second row: Krise, Whitten, P. Lochner, D. Carper, Shimer
Third row: R. Thomas, Nelson, J. Rieke, L. Anderson, Buchanan, Sockrider, J. Smith

HONOR GROUP

Ordinarily the honor group is composed of the four students from each class who have the highest yearly averages. This year, because of tied scores in the Senior and Freshman classes, the Honor Group was much larger than ever before.

Many students work hard through the year so as to have the honor of being on the yearly honor group. Each six weeks an honor roll is posted, which consists of all those who received two or more A's. The group pictured here is composed of those having the highest grades for the year.

In the Senior class Mary Krise was first, and Leola Ford, Ermel Weaver, Alice Whitten, Albert Sockrider, and Jean Buss tied for second, third, and fourth. In the Junior class, Alberta Peele was first, Rovine Dawson and John Rieke were tied for second, and Lee Anderson was fourth. The four highest in the Sophomore class were all tied and they were as follows: Robert Buchanan, Robert Nelson, Eleanor Fribley, and Naomi Garman. In the Freshman class Jack Smith was first, Raymond Thomas and Juanita Shimer tied for second and third, and Donna Carper and Phyllis Lochner tied for fourth.

There is usually an average of approximately thirty-five students who place on the six weeks honor roll. This year, an exceptionally high number placed on each of the six weeks honor rolls but did not have quite enough A's to be in the annual group.

Top row: Burgess Barnhart, Alice Whitten, Dorothy Duke, Rachel Shull, John Brandon, Marjorie Miner, Robert Renner, Leola Ford, Robert Merchanthouse, Marceille Truitt

EDITORIAL

A New Deal Annual—a yearbook in reversed form—does not resemble its prototype of 1904. The Follies of 1934 is the thirtieth of its succession—but what a contrast to the one published thirty years ago by that boyless class.

The style of annuals has radically changed since those days. Since a true annual must reflect the life of its school, it is only natural that the seething unrest of the business world should cast its reflection upon the school, and its year book. The changes this year are due to the falling into the background of the depression, coupled with the NRA. The NRA has made rules seem sound which before seemed against all sense of good business. Our New Deal Annual is the result. We have entirely reversed the previous plan. However the content is as inclusive as that of any yearbook previously published. Several new features have been introduced, and to a topsy-turvy, backward world which we all seem to be enjoying, we submit our annual reversed.

Nor is the content all that has been changed! The contents of a reduced budget also have been turned upside down. To meet this crisis a new engraver came upon the scene. The Associated Engravers of Fort Wayne cooperated to make our deflated dollars dance a brisker tune.

Even our stand-by photographer, Mr. Jones, turned us inside out, and took all pictures out-of-doors instead of inside-walls.

Our same printer, the Auburn Printing Company restrained himself, and did do the printing right side up, though we perhaps kept him standing on his head most of the time. Without his sympathetic help, we should have despaired of completing our book.

The faculty as a whole kept their thoughts to themselves when it came to cutting into their classes for time to take pictures.

And thus we have a New Deal Annual —as well as a thirtieth anniversary annual to the book of 1904.

FOOTBALL

Approximately fifty boys turned out for football last fall. This gridiron squad gave Auburn one of its best football records in the history of the school. They won six out of seven games with no ties.

The Red Devils started the season by giving Columbia City a trimming, 18 to 12, on the home gridiron. The team next traveled to Decatur. The Yellow Jackets were strong, but not strong enough to hold the Auburn team from an 18 to 14 victory. The game was not so close nor so interesting as the score indicates, as the Red Devils would have scored again if they had had a few more minutes to go.

The winning streak continued as the invading Hicksville, Ohio, boys entered our lot. The Red Devils displayed football in their best form, sending the Buckeyes home with a 37 to 0 defeat. Dave Williams broke his shoulder in this game. This was his last participation in any sport for Auburn High.

The Auburn team annexed an important victory the following week by beating North Side of Fort Wayne under the powerful floodlights, 20 to 12. Auburn proved her superiority by ripping through the Redskins' line for many substantial gains. Auburn also completed several important passes, which put them into scoring position.

The Red Devils everlasting rivals, the Garrett Railroaders, came to Auburn with the expectations of a victory, but the powerful Auburn gridders sent them home with a 14 to 6 defeat. Garrett's lone score came as a result of a freak play.

Auburn's only defeat came from Central of Fort Wayne in the last game of the season. The Tigers proved too much for the Red Devils, beating Auburn 13 to 0. Jess Myers, Auburn's star fullback, was not in condition to play in this game.

Silver footballs were received this year by: Burgess Barhnart, Robert Lochner, Wilbur Essley, Robert Berg, David Rodecap, John Morris, Kenneth Walter, Gerald Roth, and Walter Kruse.

Those in school who had previously received silver footballs are: Denzil Myers, Don Merchanthouse, Robert Merchanthouse, Frank Ramsey, William Kreider, and David Williams.

George Pulver, Arthur Hines, Lawrence Chorpenning, John Morris, Don Merchanthouse, Robert Merchanthouse, Robert Berg, Kenneth Walter, William Kreider, David Williams, Burgess Barnhart, Frank Ramsey, Robert Lochner, Richard Brown, Gerald Roth, Walter Kruse, Preston Stackhouse, Denzil Myers, David Rodecap, Wilbur Essley, Robert Renner, and Business Manager Richard Raub received letters for services performed in football this year.

NOON LEAGUE

Much interest in school life was found at noon time in the big gym. Basketball games were played on Monday and Tuesday between the class teams, and on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, the noon league teams played.

Many good games were presented this year. Much enthusiasm was aroused during the noon hours as the rivalry ran high.

All boys who did not make the first or second squads were given a chance to play basketball at this time. Each boy in school could play if he wanted to do so.

Ten noon league teams were chosen this year. As names for the teams, the captains chose the names of various popular automobiles. The best team of the league proved to be the Dodges, captained by Ramsey. This team won eight out of their nine scheduled games to gain the championship. They lost one game to the DeSotos. Four teams, the Fords, Plymouths, DeSotos, and Packards tied for second place.

The Dodge team consisted of Ramsey, captain; S. Williams, Poppele, Stallman, D. Harris, G. Pulver, Fee, Shook, and Custer.

In an elimination tournament the DeSotos proved to be superior with the Plymouths as runners-up.

The tournament winners, the DeSotos, had M. Myers, captain; Ferguson, Winebrenner, Walter, McDougall, Fink, Crooks, L. McCorkle, and Riggs on their team.

The interclass crown went to the Seniors. The class of '34 finished first for the second consecutive year. This powerful squad consisted of Walter, Shoudel, Welch, Price, Ramsey, Mefford, Kruse, and Buttermore. These boys, winning ten out of fourteen games had a percentage of .714. The Sophomores and the Freshmen were tied for second place, winning eight out of fourteen for a percentage of .571. The Juniors made the poorest showing, winning but two out of fourteen games for a percentage of .143.

SECOND TEAM

The second team played a preliminary to each first team game this year. This playing experience helps to build future teams.

The seconds started the season by defeating Ashley 15 to 14 in an overtime game. The following week the boys annexed an easy win from Butler, 24-9.

The seconds on November 17 took Angola into camp, 17-16, in a thriller.

On November 24, South Side broke Auburn's string of three straight victories by the score of 21-15. To annex the fourth victory, the seconds defeated LaGrange 27-14, on November 29.

Their second defeat came when Goshen scored 14-13 in an overtime game. The following week another overtime was played with Portland, only to lose, 22-19. The third consecutive upset came when Kendallville won over the seconds, 22-20, on December 15.

The South Siders made good in defeating the seconds for their second victory this season 25-23. Still in a slump, the seconds lost to Bluffton, 17-15.

In a thrilling game, the seconds lost to Central by a lone point, 18-17. Decatur was next to beat the seconds by a 26-18 margin. Wabash was easily triumphant over the seconds, 20-9.

After eight consecutive losses, the seconds pulled away from their slump to beat Garrett, 22-16, on January 26. Still playing superior ball, they again took Angola, 19-17. North Side next fell into the hands of the seconds, 23-15; on February 9.

The strong Hartford City second quintet fell before Auburn in a hard fought battle, 17-14.

They annexed the season's second win over LaGrange, 20-16. The Rome City first were easily beaten, 26-22. In the season's fourth overtime, and their last game, they nosed out Columbia City 26-24, on February 23.

The seconds had a successful season, winning eleven games and losing nine for a percentage of .550.

Most of the boys on the second team will see action next year on the first five. There will be seven graduate from the first team.

BASKETBALL BOYS

William Kreider, Guard

"Bill" upholds the speed of the team. He was a fast cutting man and could "hit" consistently from far out on the floor. Bill holds second place in the season's scoring.

Denzil Myers, Forward

"Jess" was the "hardest" man on the team. He would gladly mix a little football in the game when there was a loose ball. He should prove valuable on next year's squad.

Don Merchanthouse, Forward

Don is a handy man under-the-basket. He will be one of the few to hold up the school's honors next year. He is a steady player and a good ball-handler.

Jack Sanders, Forward

This was "Jess's" first year on the regular squad and when once in the game, he set a hot pace. He was depended upon for his baskets and was high-point man in several games.

Burgess Barnhart, Guard

"Bud" can play either forward or guard. He drives hard into the basket, making anyone in his way in danger. Bud is a dribbler of ability and has a good basket eye.

BASKETBALL BOYS

Robert Lochner, Center

"Bob" showed his stuff in the sectional tourney. He can outjump almost any center. His under-the-basket work was of much value to the team.

Gerald Roth, Guard

"Rothie," although small, had lots of speed and was an accurate shot at the basket. His left hand worked like a machine in sinking those one-handed shots.

Richard Raub, Forward

"Dick," last year a noon-league star, proved himself capable of playing varsity basketball. He was steady and handled himself well on the floor.

Don Myers, Forward

Don, only a Sophomore, is a bright prospect for next year. He is an accurate basket-shooter. His height will come in handy to the team next year.

Preston Stackhouse, Center

"Stack" is one of the few players on the team that does not graduate this year. He is a good ball handler, and will hold a steady position on next year's squad.

SUMMARY OF SEASON

The Auburn Red Devils met the Ashley squad for the first game of the season on Noyember 3. It was a fast, rugged game which Auburn won by a 28 to 19 score.

On November 10, Auburn was met and defeated by Butler in the first home game, 19 to 9. Butler was represented by the best team it has ever had.

The squad traveled north to meet the Angola Hornets, November 17. Auburn lost the much coveted keg for the first time in four years. The final score was 23 to 15.

The game scheduled with Wakarusa for November 24, was canceled because they had been suspended from the Athletic Association. South Side of Fort Wayne filled in. Auburn was defeated by the score of 20-19. This was the first time Auburn had been defeated by South Side in ten years.

The LaGrange Lions visited us on November 29. At the end of the game, Auburn trailed by a score of 15-14.

On December 1, Goshen came to Auburn. After a hard fought game Auburn emerged victorious by a score of 14-12.

On December 8, we contested with Portland on our own floor. Portland did not measure up to our expectations and was beaten 21 to 15.

On December 15, in a fast game, Kendallville defeated Auburn on Kendallville's own floor, 26-21.

The week following, the South Side Archers met Auburn in an exciting tilt. For the second time this season they scored a one-point victory, 15 to 14.

Bluffton was our next opponent on the home floor December 29. The Bluffton players encountered stiff opposition in the Red Devils who won this North Eastern Indiana Conference game 14-12.

Central of Fort Wayne came into our territory January 5, only to be defeated. It was a closely contested game, with the ultimate score 26-25.

January 12, the team traveled south to Decatur where they were defeated by a six-point margin. The Red Devils, handicapped by a small gym were unable to score. The final score was 17 to 11.

Following the Decatur game was the Blind Tourney, held in Kendallville. Those participating were Auburn, Kendallville, Decatur, and Bluffton. The Bluffton Tigers were victorious after defeating Auburn in the afternoon and Decatur in the concluding game. Auburn defeated Kendallville in the consolation game.

Wabash played the Red Devils January 19. Accurate shooting by the Wabash squad spelled defeat for Auburn. The score was 22 to 17.

Auburn proved her superiority to the Garrett Railroaders on the Railroaders' own floor on January 26. It was a dilatory game with the final score 19 to 8.

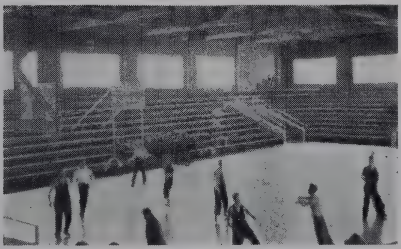
The Angola Hornets came to Auburn February 2 to contest for the keg which they had earned a few months before. The score was 25 to 22, in their favor. The keg went back to Angola.

Auburn was badly beaten at Hartford City by a score of 42 to 22. The Red Devils were unable to compete with the fast playing on the part of the Airdales.

February 9, the North Side Redskins, last year state contestants, invaded Auburn's court. Their accurate basket shooting proved fatal to the Red Devils. North Side won by a 23-22 score.

Auburn next traveled to LaGrange. In spite of the Red Devils' thirst to revenge a one-point defeat inflicted by the Lions, they were again set back, 27 to 22.

The highly touted Beaver Dam quintet met Auburn on February 17. Although Beaver Dam was expected to win, Auburn's superior ball playing sent them home on the short end of the score, 19-20.



Auburn closed the regular season by meeting Columbia City on their stage basketball floor. The stage-fright was too much for the Red Devils, who were defeated by 31 to 17.

Although not having as succesful a season as in the past, the men nevertheless did good work. They were always in the game. Each man played hard and to the best of his ability. Many of the games were lost by only one or two points.

Basketball sweaters were received this year by: Jack Sanders, Robert Lochner, Richard Raub, Gerald Roth, Burgess Barnhart, and Preston Stackhouse. Sweaters were received in previous years by William Kreider, Denzil Myers, Don Merchanthouse, Robert Merchanthouse, and Willard Vachon.

The Silver Loving Cup, awarded for the best foul shooting average, was given to Kreider with an average of 55.5%, with Sanders close behind with an average of 54.5%.

TOURNAMENTS

In the tournament, Auburn did not go far. The Red Devils won their first game but lost the next to Butler. Columbia City won our Sectional Tourney. The next week Auburn was host to four regional participants. This was won by Beaver Dam. Logansport won the state tourney the week following.

TRACK

Fifty-two track aspirants answered "Zeke" Young's call for material this year. After a week's preparation, this group developed into a very good team.

Although Auburn had an invitational dual meet with North Side of Fort Wayne, with only one week of practice to their credit, they showed up very well against the Redskins. The Auburn thinlies showed superiority in many events, although at the end of the meet, they trailed by a one point margin.

The following week, the thinly clads took their spite out on the South Side Archers, beating them 59½ to 55½. The Auburn team showed improvement, and made the future outlook good.

Auburn had the next meet scheduled with Kendallville, but the Comets canceled this. As a substitute, Auburn was invited to Marion. The meet was close throughout, but Marion ended on the long end of the tally, 63½ to 51½.

The annual Kokomo relays were held the next week.

Kenneth Graham

The state's strongest track squads were represented there. Auburn took seventh place in this meet.

At the conference track meet held at North Side, there were only three teams of good showing: South Side, North Side, and Auburn. South Side took the meet with 51½ points. North Side was second with 46, and Auburn was close behind for third with 44. The other participants were hopelessly out of the running.

The Sectional track meet was held at Garrett last year. The Auburn thinlies were able to capture second place with 27 points, beating out North Side with 25½, but trailing South Side's 29½. By placing first or second in any event, Auburn was able to send three boys to the state; Lash, Williams, and Myers. Lash qualified in the mile and half mile, Williams in the high and low hurdles, and the high jump, and Myers qualified in the shotput. Auburn gained ten points at the state for tenth place.

Don Lash, the best long distance runner that Auburn High School has ever had, broke the state record in the mile run, running it in 4:23.7. He also won the half mile run in 2:02. Lash is now going to Indiana University for whom he runs in all the large track meets. In almost all of these meets he has placed second or third. Big things are expected of Lash by the University.

COACH YOUNG

"Zeke" has been Auburn's coach for the past ten years and is largely responsible for the teams' successes. He turned out an excellent football team this year, which had six victories with but one defeat. Although Auburn's basketball team did not do as well this year as in the past, they were taught never to give up and to have plenty of scrap. The basketball teams since "Zeke" has been coach here have won more than 70% of their games. He, usually, turned out a good track team.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Athletic Association was carried on successfully for its twentieth consecutive year. Three business managers were again elected this year, as was done last year.

A meeting of the Association was called at the first of the school year and elected William Kreider, President. Other officers chosen were Merle Williams, Secretary; Mr. Schooley, Treasurer; and Richard Raub, Football Manager.

Frank Ramsey was chosen basketball manager at the beginning of that season, and D. Williams was made track manager.

CAPTAIN MERCHANTHOUSE

"Bob" was elected captain of the hardwood squad by the other members of the team. He is well liked and has proved his leadership in running the team. "Bob" was undoubtedly one of the "brainiest" players on the team and knew what to do at the right time. He played guard and filled this position well. He is a senior this year and has been a regular on the basketball team for the past three years. His position will be hard to fill.

FOOTBALL CAPTAINS, FOOTBALL MANAGER YELL LEADER

The Auburn football squad elected two football captains this year. Bill Kreider governed the backfield while Bob Lochner ruled the line. Kreider was quarterback and Lochner was a left tackle. They led their team to a very successful season, this year, losing but one game out of the seven played.

Dick Raub was football business manager. He was always on the job and was always willing to help when needed.

Leon Sebring held down the yell leader's position for the third consecutive year. It was "Midge" who put the pep into the team when pep was needed. Leon was often ably assisted by Maxine Scott.

SCHOOL BANKING

Although the NRA has done much to aid business, money is still tied up and rather scarce. The standard of Thrift is the lowest that it has been in years.

Posters on Thrift were displayed in the assembly and on the bulletin board and several impromptu speeches were made in an effort to raise Thrift's status in the High School.

The first period Sophomore history class taught by Mr. Miller has the highest banking average. Among the classes, the Seniors are first, the Juniors second, the Sophomores third, and the Freshmen, fourth.

Twenty-five students acted as cashiers in the various class-rooms, collecting the money and preparing it for the bank.

Doing the Banking

Heretofore, the administration and classes have seemed to come first in the scheme of things. This time we relegate them to a more obscure position. Not that they aren't of vast importance—but we feel that they are the bony frame-work—the skeleton structure upon which depend the outer covering and vital organs, School Life and Activities. Hence, after going beyond those exteriors, we come to

SCHOOL BOARD

The group that plans, and looks ahead for the school is the School Board. There are three members on the board who are appointed by the City Council for a term of three years. Each year one term expires so that there will be two experienced members on the board at all times. The executive officer, the superintendent of schools, is chosen by the board.

This year, the members are D. M. Link, president; A. V. Hines, treasurer; and Hugh Carper, secretary, who are all comparatively new in this capacity. This is Mr. Link's first year on the board, and the city and school consider themselves singularly fortunate in securing a man of his caliber. He took the place of H. L. Brown, who resigned after being a board member for many years. Mr. Carper has served four years, and Dr. Hines, three years.

It is the duty of this group to make up the budget for the Auburn schools. In these times, that is a man-size job, but our board members seem equal to the occasion. They have, so far, out-classed the city of Chicago in the management of the school system, for our teachers have not missed a pay-day, and the schools have run the full time.

During the present year, there have been several outstanding changes and variations in the curriculum. The six hour-classes replaced the former eight forty-five-minute school day, and this system has proved highly satisfactory. The board found it necessary to reduce the teaching strength by two, so consequently, Miss Armstrong taught Freshman English in addition to her Latin; Miss Dawson added a Sophomore English class to her studies; and Mr. Fribley instructed students in academic Biology. At mid-year, Miss Kreft transferred from our Home Economic department to that in Technical of Indianapolis, and was ably replaced by Miss Swaim. Besides these alterations, the Department of Public Speaking was crossed off our list of inter-school activities, due to reduction of the teaching force.

Under the guidance of the exceptionally capable School Board, the school, both students and faculty, wishes to express sincerest appreciation of these men of such civic pride that they give their time and abilities in this way.

CLASS OFFICERS

At the beginning of each school year, the classes hold meetings for the sole purpose of electing officers and sponsors for the ensuing year.

The Freshman meeting is always supervised by Mr. Fribley, the principal, and after the President has been selected, he takes charge of the procedure.

This year the Freshmen elected as their officers: Franklin Gingrich, President; Arletta Scott, Vice President; Finley Custer, Secretary; Dorris Waggoner, Treasurer; and Miss Gladys Duguid, Faculty Advisor.

The Sophomores chose Tom Mason, President; Gilbert Shull, Vice President; Joan Hoff, Secretary; and Sam Williams, Treasurer. Mr. Lloyd Miller became their advisor.

The Juniors selected as their leaders for their first year as upper classmen, the following: Lee Anderson, President; Mary Carper, Vice President; Charlotte Lochner, Secretary; and Harold Stump, Treasurer, with Mr. Frank Weathers for their advisor.

Under the supervision of Robert Merchanthouse, the 1932-33 President, the Seniors chose Jack Sanders as their leader for the on-coming year. To aid him was Kenneth Walter, Vice President; Alice Whitten, Secretary; Mary Krise, Treasurer; and Don Coar, Class Advisor.

This student-executive group carried off flying colors in administering their duties. Their able guidance made a success of the drive to sell season basketball tickets in November; later they contributed to a highly entertaining program just before the Christmas Holidays. They chose an outstanding Assembly speaker, Mr. Wilson, who revealed some of his hair-raising exploits in bicycling across the African continent. On April 13th, the officers combined forces and presented a very amusing program in honor of the Sophomore Class, who won the above-mentioned Ticket Contest. And last but not least, the Juniors drafted committees, lead by the respective officers, and royally banqueted the graduating class at Potawatomi Inn, on May 14th.

HISTORY OF THE CLASSES

In the fall of 1930, a group of unusually outstanding freshmen entered McIntosh High. To lead them through their first year they chose Albert Sockrider, Marjorie Miner, Barbara George, and Gerald Roth, who were in turn aided by Miss Kreft acting as sponsor.

This group of freshmen gave high promise in all the various school activities. David Williams was center on the first team in basketball. Others outstanding in athletics were Bill Kreider, Jack Sanders, Gerald Roth, Burgess Barnhart, Willard Vachon, Irene Williams, and Merle Williams. Several members of the class were on the Chatterbox staff, and in Glee Club. The honor group was composed of Leola Ford, Alice Whitten, Neola Meek, and Jean Buss.

Next year, as sophomores, Burgess Barnhart, David Williams, Pauline Keller, and Marcella Dahline, with Miss Rhoads as sponsor, were chosen to head the same class.

Mae Elene Craven won the county piano contest, and Leroy Close the district geometry contest. Jean Buss, Mary Sprott, Alice Whitten, and Jack Sanders were members of the "Sunbonnet Girl" cast. The honor group was composed of Marcella Dahline, Jean Buss, Fay Thomas, and Alice Whitten.

Along with the sophomores a new group of freshmen entered, the Class of '35. They chose as class officers, Joe Lumm Robert Berg, Rovine Dawson, and Geraldine Mason. Miss Kreft was unanimously chosen class sponsor.

As promising athletes in the class of 35 there were Don Merchanthouse, Patch Hines, Robert Berg, Barbara Gordon, Mary Carper, and Vivian Davidson. In the operetta were Ruth Lige, Barbara Gordon, Genevieve Elson, Alice McClellan, Geraldine Mason, Helen Bassen, and Bud Phillips. Alice McClellan, Charlotte Lochner, Helen Ruskin, and Barbara Gordon were honor students.

The next year the Class of '34 entered on their first year as upperclassmen. To lead them through this busy year they chose Robert Merchanthouse, Jack Sanders, Leola Ford, Merle Williams, and Mr. Coar.

The juniors had many activities among which were aiding in the freshman reception, sponsoring a stand at the Fall Fair, entertaining the whole school at the Junior Carnival, and as a climax, inviting the seniors to a banquet at Potawatomi Inn.

Members of the class in the Junior-Senior play were Jean Buss, Mary Krise, Mary Sprott, and Gordon Mefford. Outstanding athletes were Dave Williams, Robert Merchanthouse, Jack Sanders, Burgess Barnhart, Gerald Roth, Bill Kreider, Merle Williams, Marjorie Miner, and Priscilla Long.

The Honor group consisted of Leola Ford, Alice Whitten, Jean Buss, Betty Swartz, Fay Thomas, and Marian Thomas.

The sophomores again chose Joe Lumm, president, with Don Merchanthouse, Charlotte Lochner, and Barbara Gordon as the other officers. They chose Mr. Miller for class advisor. Those outstanding in basketball were Don Merchanthouse, Patch Hines, Robert Berg, Preston Stackhouse, Mary Carper, and Vivian Davidson. Those in the honor group were Genevieve Elson, Alice McClellan, Lauren Walter, Joe Lumm, Frances Close, and Helen Ruskin.

Another bunch of youngsters entered as freshmen in the fall of 1932. They chose Robert Nelson, Joan Hoff, Don Miller, and Eleanor Fribley as class officers, and Miss Kreft as sponsor. Denzil Myers made the first team in basketball, and Don Myers, Tom Mason, and Dave Rodecap were also on the basketball teams. The honor roll was made up of Robert Nelson, Eleanor Fribley, Robert Buchanan, and Gilbert Shull. Members of the class were also outstanding in interscholastic activities. Robert Buchanan and Robert Nelson won in the Fort Wayne district algebra contest, and placed in the state finals at Bloomington.

The class which had entered in 1930 entered Auburn High for the last time as seniors. This was their last chance, and they made a record that any class would envy. To lead them through this final year, they chose Jack Sanders, Kenneth Walter, Alice Whitten, and Mary Krise. Mr. Coar was class advisor. In football, Robert Lochner, Burgess Barnhart, Frank Ramsey, Bill Kreider, Robert Merchanthouse, and Kenneth Walter were on the eleven. Robert Lochner, Jack Sanders, Gerald Roth, Bill Kreider, Richard Raub, Burgess Barnhart, and Robert Merchanthouse were outstanding basketball players. Bill Kreider was elected president of the A. A. A., with Merle Williams as secretary. Richard Raub was manager of football, and Frank Ramsey was basketball manager.

Seniors in the cast of the Junior-Senior play were Gordon Mefford, Albert Sockrider, Fay Thomas, Mary Krise, Pauline Keller, Mary Sprott, and Alice Whitten. Kenneth Walter was chosen editor-in-chief of the annual with Gordon Mefford, Fay Thomas, Albert Sockrider, and Leroy Close as the other members of the major staff. Those outstanding scholastically were Mary Krise, Jean Buss, Leola Ford, Albert Sockrider, Ermel Weaver, and Alice Whitten.

When they entered High School this fall the Class of '35 chose Lee Anderson as president, and Mary Carper, Charlotte Lochner, and Harold Stump as his helpers. Mr. Weathers was class advisor.

Those outstanding in athletics were Don Merchanthouse, Preston Stackhouse, Patch Hines, Robert Berg, John Morris, George Pulver, Bud Chorpenning, Harold Stump, Joe Lumm, and Lee Anderson. Members of the Junior-Senior play were Austin Rufner, Charlotte Lochner, and Lauren Walter. Rovine Dawson, Alberta Peel, John Rieke, and Lee Anderson were on the honor roll.

For their second year in high school, the sophomores chose Tom Mason president, with Gilbert Shull, Joan Hoff, and Sam Williams, as the other officers. Those outstanding in athletics were Denzil Myers, Don Myers, Joe Dewitt, Dave Rodecap, Walter Stebing, George Reeder, Tom Mason, and Wilbur Essley. The honor students were Robert Nelson, Eleanor Fribley, Naomi Garmen, and Robert Buchanan.

There was also a new group of freshmen who chose to lead them, Franklin Gingrich, Arletta Scott, Finley Custer, and Doris Waggoner, with Miss Duguid as class advisor. Those in athletics were Hubert Hines, Myrl Stafford, Wayne Cripe, Carl Stallman and Christopher Burns. The Honor Group was composed of Jack Smith, Juanita Shimer, Phyllis Lochner, and Donna Carper.

Little Nosmo:

Many ministers could, from personal experience, tell of strange names bestowed upon infants at their baptism, but few could equal the following story recently told by the Bishop of Sodor and Man. A mother who was on the lookout for a good name for her child, saw on the door of a building the word "Nosmo." It attracted her, and she decided that she would adopt it. Some time later, passing the same building, she saw the name "King" on another door. She thought the two would sound well together, and so the boy was baptized "Nosmo King Smith." On her way home from the church where the baptism had taken place, she passed the building again. The two doors on which she had seen the names were now closed together, and what she read was not "Nosmo King," but "No Smoking."

Till the leaders of our country shall be chosen from that throng,
Just a few more years of toiling and the burdens that we bear
Shall be placed upon the shoulders of that army marching there.
And is anybody doubtful or is anybody blue?
Will they fail to do their duty as it's given them to do?
No, the answer now is written, and whatever may await,
We may rest in this assurance they will guide the ship of state.

Provines: "Howzat?"

Swanders: "He thinks only guineas can die of Bright's disease."

Captain: "All hands below. The ship is leaking!"

Voice from below: "Aw, put a pan under it and come on to bed."

"Well, little boy, what's your name?"

"Shadrack Leon Earl Nebuchadnezzer Sebring."

"Who gave you that name?"

"I don't know, but yer bet cher life if I find out, when I gets me growth they'll be sorry for it."

STORY OF A PAIR OF TIGHTS

Once there were two Scotchmen—one of them made his son study the violin so he wouldn't have to have his hair cut. The other had himself born in the United States to save the cost of transportation.

First Cannibal: "What's that strange noise I hear in your stomach?"

For the first time in his life, Percy, the English lord, visiting America, took out a girl from the States.

"Nighty, nighty," she said as she bade him good evening.

"Pajamas, pajamas," he said, and wondered why she laughed.

Ginny G.: "What do you say to a tramp along the creek?"
Naomi: "Oh, never speak to the horrid things."

A young Canadian was making a call on Edith Dunn whom he had met for the first time.

"Do you have reindeer in Canada?" she asked.

"No, Darling," he answered. "At this season it always snows."
